EXCESS IN EUROPE

5.000 Bales Already on Way to Hamburg Part of 50,000 Engaged for Distribution.

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Feb. 10 .-Through the shipment of 5,000 bales of low grade cotton to Hamburg, on a contract to: 50,000 bales, a plan has been disclosed here by which, in the belief of its promoters, American shippers can combine in groups to solve for themselves the problem of exporting their excess stocks.

Cotton growers have set out to help themselves through their organ-ization, the Mississippi Delta Export and Trading Company. They shipped 5,000 bales last Saturday from Gulfport on the Maidencreek, a Government-owned craft. Their agent is in Hamburg to receive it and has arranged to place it among mills in Central Europe, under tolt contracts, the mills to receive a portion of raw cotton and to deliver finished goods in payment.

Contracts have been made with foreign distributers for the cash paychase of the finished goods from the agent at moderate prices but sufficient to pay the planters well for their cotton and leave a margin for company expenses.

The next step hereabouts will be to assure ultimate delivery, from stocks now in hand, of the 50,000 bales which the American agent in Hamourg has engaged to distribute among European mills. Airendy 25,000 bales have been pledged. The company is planning to ship 10,000 bales monthly for the next four months and then to make a last shipment of 5,000.

Arrangements have been made for all necessary financing through the Federal Foreign Banking Corporation of New York and the International Banking Corporation of New Orleans. New Orleans.

There is no guarantee of the price the planters will receive, but eat-mates are now made on a minimum basis of 20 cents a pound.
